

BRIEF NOTES.

—Protection to Bloomfield stores kept here is said to be one of the possible benefits of the new law, as it enables the town's police authorities to impose a license on all peddlers from out of town, who retail the refuse from the Newark market among the suburban towns.

—A great many people are astonished to learn that the Orange and Bloomfield Street Railway carries passengers six miles for five cents. It has been suggested that the Essex Passenger Railway would make more money at a five cent rate to Newark than under its present charges.

—The first lecture in Mr. P. W. Lyon's course on German History was delivered Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. D. J. Lyon, who has kindly given the use of her parlors for each Tuesday afternoon of the course. About twenty-five ladies were present; all were enthusiastic in their praise of the lecture.

—A bill introduced into the Legislature provides that sewers in cities must continue to tide water. Should this law be made applicable to sewers already in existence, East Orange will have spent half a million dollars for nothing and will have to expend several hundred thousand dollar more to reach tide water.

—THE CITIZEN received a pleasant business call on Tuesday from Mr. J. L. Hewlett, the real estate dealer of 372 West 34th street New York, who is interesting himself in Bloomfield property. Mr. Hewlett was accompanied by "General Boone," who attracts attention wherever he goes as a remarkably fine representative of the canine species.

—The annual meeting of the Essex County Mutual Insurance Company was held in the office of the Bloomfield Savings Institution on Monday and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Thomas K. Oakes; Vice-President, Joseph H. Kearsney and Treasurer, Joseph K. Dodd. Directors, J. M. Tichenor and Charles P. Sanford.

—Consulting Engineer Rudolph Heintz, of Philadelphia, inspected the East Orange sewerage system last week. He reported that he never saw a sewer system nor one in which the work of construction had been better performed. He said that the bad odor at the disposal works was caused by the imperfect working of the Johnson presses imported from England.

—The Township Committee rooms were illuminated last Wednesday night by one of the United States Incandescent Gas Lamp Company's lamps. This lamp resembles the electric light in brilliancy and possesses the advantage of absolute steadiness. Mr. J. A. Felouet is agent for the United States lamps and he states that they met with ready sale in Orange and East Orange.

—The Park M. E. Church revival services will continue during the coming week. Mrs. Lowry will remain. Fifteen have come to the knowledge of the truth which is in Christ. Mrs. Lowry will preach on Sabbath morning and each evening during next week. Rev. Dr. Van Benschoten, the new Presiding Elder, will preach on Sabbath evening. Large congregations are attending these services.

—The tumor that the bed of the Morris Canal will ultimately be used as a water reservoir, and which is now being filled with water has gained new strength by the appearance in the field of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company as a competitor for furnishing the water supply of the city. The railroad company offers to supply twenty-five million gallons daily for four million dollars per annum.

—The Orange branch of the Erie Railroad crosses several Bloomfield streets and in some instances has neglected to make suitable approaches to the crossings as required by law. The most notable of these is Grove Street, where it appears as if no attempt had been made to make a proper approach. The Town Committee will be requested to call the attention of the Company to the matter.

—The Young Men's Republican Club, held its regular meeting on January, last at the residence of their new Headquarters, on Grove Street, formerly occupied by Dr. Stubbart as his office. A larger number were present than usual, among whom were several new members. The Club continues to grow and promises to prove very influential in time. Their rooms are open every Friday evening in good or bad weather.

—Mr. Stanford Farrand has in contemplation the carrying out of extensive improvements on the large tract of property owned by the family on Franklin street, Watessing avenue and Berkley avenue. The most important among these will be the extension of Harrison street to connect with Grove street at Watessing avenue. This will make a direct highway from Montgomery street in Bloomfield to Main street, East Orange.

—Henry Campbell, of Willow street, was seriously injured, by being run over by a loaded wagon on Monday. He was returning from Newark with a load of bricks when the harness on one of the horses broke. He stopped the team and was in the act of getting off the wagon when the horses started throwing him to the ground, the heavy wagon passing over his body. He was conveyed to his home and a physician summoned to attend to his injuries.

—The Bloomfield Building and Loan Association elected the following officers on Monday night: President, John C. Keyler; Vice-President, John Van Fleet; Board of Directors for three years, A. H. Whitman, W. S. Lockwood and Thomas Whitman. Henry L. Lawrence was elected director for one year to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of F. M. Hinkle. George M. Wood was elected member of the Board of Auditors for three years.

—Mrs. Charles Grushaber, wife of Charles Grushaber, a Belleville avenue gardener, was very much frightened on Saturday night over the discovery of a man trying to climb to the roof of the piazza fronting their house. She went to the alarm and her husband ran out to learn what was the matter. When he saw the supposed burglar in the house for his own part, the intruder jumped from the piazza to the ground and run off.

—John Mark, a laborer occasionally employed about the premises of Tax-collector A. C. Marr, was suddenly seized with insanity on Friday evening. He became possessed with an idea that he was pursued by enemies who sought his life, and, seizing a hatchet he prepared his custody and he was placed in the Newark jail awaiting arrangements for his commitment to the asylum.

—Notwithstanding the disposition of a few to pass unfavorable criticisms on the flag stone walk along the east line of the Park, it is conceded by the majority that the walk is a decided improvement. Contractor Callahan who performed the work, states that the walk is put down in accordance with the grade line furnished by the Township Surveyor, and in course of time the roadway and sidewalk on the opposite side of the street will have to be brought to a grade corresponding with the new sidewalk.

—At the request of a great many citizens who desire information in regard to the working of the provisions of the new township law, a public meeting will be held in Dodd's Hall on Wednesday evening, Jan. 23d. Dr. Harry E. Richards has kindly consented to be present with a synopsis of the law which will be read and an opportunity given to all to receive enlightenment in the matter. There should be a large attendance as it is very important that the voters get correct views on the subject before voting.

—The extra twelve inches of clearance over the roadway of Bellevue avenue which the N. Y. & G. L. R. R. Co. promises to furnish by the construction of their new bridge, is a move in the right direction. It is the opinion of a number of interested citizens that the company might do a little better without any serious inconvenience to itself. It is thought that the tracks might be raised several inches nearer the approaches to the bridge and thus gain a little more clearance. The company could do this with very little expense.

The special meetings in the Baptist Church have been at ended with increasing interest and growing congregations. In the early part of the week the pastor was assisted by Rev. E. D. Clough, of Orange, and on Thursday evening Rev. R. Holmes, of Pittston, Pa. came, and is to continue through part of next week. Mr. Holmes is a powerful preacher, his sermons are plain and searching and cannot fail to impress those who listen to him. Several have manifested a desire to be Christians. On Sunday morning Rev. Walter A. A. Gardner, of New York, will speak and sing the gospel. Mr. Holmes will preach in the evening.

—Mr. F. N. Moffat, representing F. N. Moffat & Co., the well known directory publishers, has commenced work on the 1893 edition of that valuable work. The scope of the new edition will be greatly enlarged, so as to comprise, Orange, East Orange, West Orange, South Orange, Bloomfield, Montclair, Bellevue, Franklin, Caldwell, Livingston, Clinton and Milburn. The new work will be like its predecessors, a full and complete directory, comprising Churches, Societies, Township Officers, Fire Department and other matters of interest. Reliable maps of the whole territory covered accompany each book.

—Reference was made in this paper last week to the fact that the town of Dover had adopted an electric light system. The system was operated for the first time last Saturday night and gave ~~much satisfaction~~. The following figures from the Dover Iron Era as to the relative cost of the system will prove of interest to those interested in the adoption of electric illumination in our own town. 57 incandescent gas lights at the cost of $80 each, or $4,560. 100 incandescent gas lights at a total of $1,827 net per year. The lights are to be in operation every night in the year and to burn all night. The same number of gas lamps in Bloomfield burning only part of the night, and at certain periods only at a small part, cost about $1,218. Assuming an electric light to be equivalent to four gas lamps, an equal amount of territory could be illuminated far cheaper with electricity than with gas. The satisfaction with the interior lighting in Dover is so great that a number of the leading business men are introducing it into their places of business.

Glen Ridge Items.

—An informal reception will be held at the Club House next Wednesday evening.

—The project of building an addition to the Glen Ridge Club House is assuming definite form. If the necessary funds are subscribed, the addition will certainly be built in the near future.

—Mr. A. G. Darwin will deserve the thanks of the residents of Clark street, if he continues the good work of dumping earth into the pest hole at the junction of that street and the railroad. This swamp hole has long been an eyesore to all who live in the neighborhood.

Watessing.

—The annual meeting of the trustees of the Watessing M. E. Church will be held Jan. 26th.

—The Myrtle Social Club held their annual ball in the Alpine Club rooms on Wednesday evening.

—A very desirable site for factory purposes is the Dod's property between Prospect street and the D. L. & W. R. R.

—Mr. Charles Hill, of Dodd street, lost a child with scarlet fever last Sunday; another child in the family is very low with the same disease.

—Lakawanna Lake at the junction of Watessing avenue and the D. L. & W. R. R. has been bountifully supplied with water during the recent rainy season.

—The process of manufacturing hats is undergoing a change in some of the Bloomfield factories. The hat has been introduced in the Erie R. R. factory which will be consumed in heating the irons of a new finishing machine.

—The objection to the East Orange Street railway running through Lawrence street, is owing to the fact that in order to cross the track of the Erie Orange Branch Railway the street would require about two feet of filling. It has been proposed to run on trestle work.

—The rumor of street railway connection with East Orange has stirred up a breeze of excitement among property owners on Lawrence and adjoining streets. Mr. Nathaniel Lawrence, the owner of an extensive tract of land in the locality is decidedly opposed to it.

—Dodd, Prospect and Westcott streets, part of which are in Bloomfield and part in East Orange, present a striking contrast between the administration of affairs in the two townships. The gas-lamps on the west Orange side of the line are while those on the Bloomfield side are in total darkness.

—Watessing avenue has a fair prospect of being a church-going thoroughfare. The corner of Watessing and Bloomfield avenues has been suggested as a desirable location for the second Baptist church. The Episcopalians talk of locating on the corner of Watessing and Arlington avenues, and the new $25,000 Methodist church it is said will be erected on this avenue.

Fairview.

—Fairview Hose Co. No. 5 is next on the list.

—The new Edison factories are expected to bloom matters in this section.

—G. W. Becker is having a handsome residence built in Fairview.

—Frederick Mohrmann has resigned from the Fairview Literary Society.

—Herbert Farrand has gone to Boston on a business trip. He will be absent two weeks.

—The Fairview Improvement Association has spent $325 in improving sidewalks during the past year.

—The Essex County Building and Loan Association has been a largely instrumental in the development of Fairview.

—An effort is being made to induce W. E. Bevans to withdraw his resignation from the Improvement Association.

—The extension of Harrison street to Grove street will give us a fine driveway between Fairview and East Orange.

—The people of Fairview know a good thing when they come across it, that is why they favor the new township law.

—What has Watessing's two school trustees done toward getting a new school house as a substitute for the Berkeley building? Has the project fallen through?

—The annual meeting of the Fairview Improvement Association was held on Monday night at the residence of Charles L. Seibert. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, F. N. Moffat; Vice-President, Charles L. Seibert; Treasurer, Frederick Mohrmann; Executive Committee, F. N. Moffat, C. L. Seibert, C. L. Potter, F. Mohrmann, W. R. Hanna and W. V. Hughes.

Destitute New Comers.

A sad case of destitution and distress was brought to light in Bloomfield on Monday. Carl Ludwig, a German, came to this country several months ago. He found employment in Bloomfield and soon accumulated a little money, which he sent to his wife to defray the expenses of herself and four children to this country. Shortly after sending the money he was seized with sickness and taken to the hospital. His wife and family arrived last week. Mrs. Ludwig was almost frantic when she discovered that her husband was not on hand to meet her, she having sailed before receiving a letter announcing his sickness. The Emigration commissioners had decided to send the mother and children back to Germany. Ludwig got word of the arrival of his family and of the intention of sending them back. He hurried down to Newark and brought them here. They secured a room in a house on the corner of Franklin street and Newark avenue. They were entirely destitute of everything. They had no bed covering, no stove, nothing to furnish warmth or comfort. To add to the pitiable condition of the family the mother gave birth to a child on Monday. On Monday evening Mr. George Peterson, a painter, was informed of the family's impoverished condition, and he immediately set about providing relief. A collection was taken up in Jacob's Hotel which netted eight dollars. Mrs. William Raab, Mrs. George Peterson, Mrs. Herrman and several other ladies took the matter in hand. When they visited the single room occupied by the family they found the sick mother lying on a corner of the room with her infant child in her arms, wrapped in its father's coat, mattress, quilts and blankets were at once procured, and the mother's comfort once administered to. The following day a stove and some coal was procured. The poor family have been the recipients of several kindnesses during the week and their condition is greatly improved.

Installation of Officers.

The installation of the newly elected officers of Bloomfield Council No. 960, Royal Arcanum, which took place last Friday evening, was witnessed by a large concourse of the friends of members of the Council. William H. Nichols, S. D. R., performed the ceremony, assisted by members of the Council. The following officers were installed:

Past Regent, Seymour P. Gilbert; Regent, Frank G. Tower; Vice-Regent, F. J. Davis; Orator, J. M. Williams; Secretary, T. T. Camp; Collector, James D. Gopper; Treasurer, George M. Wood; Chaplain, E. E. Baldwin; Guide, John Kates; Warden, W. E. Eveland; Sentry, Herman Spear.

At the conclusion of the installation exercises the guests were entertained with a musical and literary programme, and served with refreshments. A quietude, in the presence of Mrs. E. W. Morris, Mrs. A. C. Barnes rendered several selections. Miss Minnie Smith, Miss Mary Wilde, Mr. C. A. Barnes, and Mr. W. W. Schouler sang solos. Mrs. E. W. Morris played piano selections assisted by Mr. W. W. Morris on the flute. Mr. Charles Apple performed on the zither. Miss Jennie Parsonast and Dr. W. H. Van Gieson delivered recitations.

Taxation.

In the Citizen:

We wish to call the attention of the public, and particularly of taxpayers, to the increase of the rate of taxation in this town for year.

Taking the three years from 1880 and including 1882, the average rate was $1.77 in $100; taking the three years from 1886 including 1888, the average rate was $2.44 in $100, showing an advance of 67 cents in $100. Comparing the three years 1880 to 1882 with 1888 the increase is 33 cents in $100.

It is to be said that this increase is justified by the improvements that are made in the town. This we will admit, but the question arises can we go on at this rate of increasing rates? Has not the time come when we should adopt some measures to lessen the rate? Our rate of taxation is considerably higher than it is 100, and also higher than in New York city.

We know that the result of a high rate of taxes is to drive away those who would otherwise come and buy here.

But some will say, then we will stop improvements. We would suggest that we bond the town. Suppose we borrow $100,000 (or any other sum). Probably we could borrow it at 4 per cent. To pay the interest on this the first year would require $4,000. In addition to this, we appropriate a sinking fund. Now if we raise the rate of taxes to 10 cents a house for improvements, we would reduce our taxation to the amount of $4,000 the first year. By reducing the debt $2,000 or more each year the debt would be finally paid. We do not say this is the best plan but we wish to bring before the people something that will lead to some action on this subject. Why should not those who come after us help pay for the benefits which they enjoy? J.

MIXERS AT THEATRE.

Robert Mantell will produce his celebrated drama called "Monbars" next week at Miners' Newark Theatre. When brought out at the 5th Avenue Theatre last season, the N. Y. World said of this play: "The story is such a new one, but is not a recognized fact that one cannot have too much of a good thing? A play which relies upon the marriage of its wife to a woman whom he sensually finds more attractive than the wife he has married, is gaining her affections, will, generally, if it be deftly handled, succeed." "Monbars" is not only deftly but originally handled. In some scenes Monbars is bitten by a hydrophobic dog, and a red hot poker and cauterizes the wound with such a realization that the audience seems to hear the hissing of the iron as it touches the flesh. Monbars has a duel at the end of the fourth act, in which he kills the villain, which is extremely effective. The play made a good impression.
